

Franklin County Board of Developmental Disabilities

'Helping people to live, learn and work in community'

NewsBits

West Central Celebrates Black History

West Central School celebrated Black History Month today with a Multi-Cultural luncheon in honor of former staff member Patrice Palmer. Charbeth Cooke, Nurse at the school, coordinated the event which also included a Black History display in the front showcase of the school. West Central School is a part of the Franklin County Board of Developmental Disabilities, located in the Franklinton area.

-

Levy Renewal Request

In their February meeting, the Franklin County Board of Developmental Disabilities approved a resolution to request that the Franklin County Commissioners approve placement of a renewal levy for the Board on the November 7 ballot. This would renew a levy that will expire in 2018. Because this is a renewal, there would be no increase in taxes. Superintendent/CEO Jed Morison and Chief Business Officer Dot Yeager will begin meeting with the Commissioners' Levy Review Committee in March. The renewal levy will support continued services for the children and adults of Franklin County who have developmental disabilities.

-

Margie Pizzuti Recognized

Congratulations to Margie Pizzuti for being recognized as one of 20 Outstanding Women by Sunny 95 Radio Station. Margie is the President and CEO of Goodwill Columbus, where lives of individuals with disabilities are transformed through pathways to independence and the power of work.

