Salute to Dean Fadel

Dean Fadel, member of the Franklin County Board of Developmental Disabilities for the past 13 years, will be recognized at the "2019 Community Star Awards and Salute to Dean Fadel" on October 1, 2019.

According to John Bickley, President of the Franklin County Board of Developmental Disabilities, "Dean has been an absolutely outstanding Board member, leader and resource for our Board and the entire state." His service to the Board included time as President and for several years he served as President of the Ohio Association of County Boards.

Jed Morison, Superintendent/CEO stated "Dean has been with us for some of the most challenging years in our history. Not only did he provide guidance with local initiatives, he also had a huge impact statewide as one of the most respected and nicest people in our field."

Dean's guidance led to the establishment of a Self-Advocate Advisory Council, which meets with the Superintendent on a regular basis and reports to the Board. He also provided leadership to strengthen Ohio SIBS, supporting brothers and sisters of individuals who have developmental disabilities. Dean's brother, Jeff, receives services from the Franklin County Board of Developmental Disabilities.

Dean's tenure on the Board will end in January, 2020 due to term limits. He has served three full terms, plus a partial term following the death of Dr. Raymond Horn in 2007.

Dean will be recognized at the 2019 Community Star Awards event to be held on Tuesday, October 1, 2019 at Villa Milano. The event will also include recognition of the 2019 Community Star Award recipients. Registration information is included in this issue of 'Dateline'.

Internet safety classes offered

by Jack Beatty

Winston Tidwell is a FCBDD Service Coordinator, who, for most of his career, has assisted individuals with extreme behavioral challenges. In recent years, he has noticed increasing numbers of people that he serves getting into trouble with the internet.

Technology has brought broad opportunities for individuals with developmental disabilities but there have been dilemmas as well. Problems can include financial exploitation, unsecured personal information on Facebook, cyber bullying, catfishing, and pornography to name a few. He began searching for informational resources to address these issues and was surprised to find comparatively little.

He discussed this with Lisa Chandler, Behavior Support Specialist at the Nisonger Center. She was very interested and had, in fact, developed some basic instructional materials through previous employment. In the absence of the availability of any formal training programs, they decided to join forces to develop a curriculum that could be used in regularly offered classes in Franklin County to assist individuals with issues around internet safety.

Their approach focuses on life stories that illustrate the dangers and emphasize the seriousness. These efforts have been supported by the Columbus Police.

Two hour overview classes are now offered on a quarterly basis and one hour classes on specific topics are offered in between.

The sessions are free and individuals can enroll by simply sending an email to: Winston.Tidwell@fcbdd.org or Lisa.Chandler@osumc.edu.

The class location will be confirmed at registration. Individuals must be accompanied by a family member, guardian, or staff for the purposes of assistance and follow-up. Winston and Lisa have been quite enthusiastic and thorough in the development of these classes and they have been extremely well received.

Classes remaining in 2019 are:

September 19, 2019: Protecting Yourself Online at 10am OR 6pm

October 17, 2019: Catfishing at 6pm

November 21, 2019: Quarterly Overview at 10am OR 6pm

FCBDD to pilot Project LIFE class at Franklin Heights HS

by Jack Brownley, Director of Schools and Special Services

The Schools Program of the Franklin County Board of Developmental Disabilities (FCBDD), anchored at West Central School and Transition Services, 1481 W. Town St. Columbus 43222 will be participating in a pilot program called Project LIFE this fall in collaboration with South-Western City Schools. The program is located at Franklin Heights High School, 1001 Demorest Rd Columbus 43204.

Project LIFE, originally created in Butler County, Ohio by Butler Technology and Career Development Schools, is a curriculum designed for high school-age students who have developmental disabilities and who need to have additional training and assistance with employability skills, exploring vocational and career options and preparing for independent living skills.

The Project LIFE curriculum provides detailed skills assessments that are used to identify targeted goals for instruction, and to guide exploration of employment goals in directions that match students' unique strengths and interests. Staff members from FCBDD will work collaboratively with staff from SWCS at Franklin Heights HS, to plan activities both in school and in the community that develop employability skills and independent living skills. FCBDD "skills trainers" will accompany students in community settings to practice these skills in volunteer employment simulations in a variety of business environments.

Project LIFE is intended as a two-year program leading to graduation from high school and transition to adulthood including employment and independent living outcomes.

A total of 12 students will be enrolled in the class. FCBDD Staff assigned to the class are Bobby Emberley, Teacher, and Skills Trainers Gretchen Haag, Evan Jobes and Brigida Alcaraz.
